

Author Info

Boris Kester is a senior purser, programmer, political scientist, avid sportsman and adventurer. He has been travelling passionately for his entire life. He is one of about 250 people worldwide to have travelled to every country in the world. He shares his travel photos and stories on www.traveladventures.org. Publishing The long road to Cullaville was a childhood dream come true for Boris. He continues traveling, as there are still so many places he wants to see and so many people he wants to meet. He is working on a sequel to The long road to Cullaville because many readers begged for one, and because he loves writing.
